Research shows that Workforce Intelligence is not only important, it's critical for your brand and bottom line. It also impacts your organization's productivity and workforce engagement whether you're aware of it, or not.

Workforce Intel360 is your organization's starting point for gathering workforce intelligence. This easy, customizable, online assessment quickly allows organizational leadership to see how they're doing from the employee's perspective.

Why Workforce Intel360

We were flooded with more calls than ever about creating a workplace that welcomes everyone: "How and where can we start now?"

We found out that existing assessments on the market would typically take 4-6 months (too long), cost over $25,000 (too expensive) or focus on regulations and policies (too much like an audit).

But we couldn't find a quick, practical assessment that helps organizations understand their strengths, identify gaps, and clarify actionable next steps based on employee perspectives.

So we created our own. We took our 10 years of data analysis and expertise to create the Workforce intel360 assessment that quickly allows organizational leadership to see how they're doing from the employee's perspective.

In addition to offering a holistic 360 perspective, the Workforce Intel360 is fast (average 4-week process), easy to access, cost effective and customizable.

This means that your organization can get your workforce data faster, have needed conversations about it sooner, and take action now. It also means that employees feel that their voice matters.

Once your organization takes the assessment, our team walks you through your final report where you'll get clear workforce data, the landscape of where things are at internally, and actionable next steps.
